Skillsoft Leadership Development Program powered by MIT Sloan Management Review

Empower leaders at all levels for an age of continuous innovation with exclusive access to the brightest minds in business and technology in a platform that supports modern learners.

New technologies and digitally enabled business models are transforming the business landscape and the pace of change is accelerating. Leaders who are comfortable with agile processes, data analysis, artificial intelligence, and more will be more successful guiding their teams and organizations to innovate, grow and succeed. Yet much of our workforce lacks competency in these critical areas. Leadership development is more important than ever as a business-critical tool in closing this competency gap.

Skillsoft Leadership Development Program powered by MIT Sloan Management Review (MIT SMR) brings a powerful combination of leading-edge learning resources, world-renowned thought leadership, proven instructional design, and an engaging learner experience in a single online platform. This exclusive collaboration offers visionary leadership development content that prepares leaders with the right competencies to drive performance and success in the digital era. Learners will benefit from MIT SMR authors and contributors who stand at the intersection of business and technology and are experienced at making complex ideas understandable and practical, typically only for the MIT community or MIT SMR subscribers.

Develop employees who are ready for what's next!

200+
Articles currently curated to SLDP channels	More MIT-SMR Articles in original design format	MIT Faculty-created courses	MIT Faculty Leadership Insights	Leadership Digital Readiness Assessment	Skillsoft Aspire Leadership Journeys

Learn from the brightest minds looking at the intersection of business and technology today, including:

- Stephanie Woerner
- Hal Gregersen
- Jerry Kane
- Renee Gosline
- And more…

All of this learning content is turbo-charged when delivered on the award-winning learning experience platform Percipio. Designed to meet the needs of busy professionals, Percipio allows learners to take advantage of a beautifully designed, consumer grade environment that offers the choice of where, when, and how to learn with the accompanying mobile app. Percipio accelerates learning with the latest tech tools like voice commands, personalization, and playlists that results in a compelling experience that keeps learners connected and coming back for more.

Watch how Percipio works for today's learners.

FEATURES

Watch, read and listen to content

Micro and macro learning

Access from any device

Learn in the flow of work using ELSA, Percipio's powerful browser extension tool

Practice with relevant resources

Curated learning paths

Playlists for tracking and saving resources

Show impact with data visualization

Social sharing and collaboration

Voice-activated search and resume via mobile

BENEFIT

Build leaders with the modern competencies necessary to succeed in an age of continuous education

skillsoft